

Transitioning from High School to College

Before Leaving High School

Adaptive Educational Services (AES) at Indiana University Purdue University – Indianapolis (IUPUI) provides reasonable accommodations to qualified individuals who experience limitations in one or more major life activities. All students must submit appropriate medical documentation in order to qualify for reasonable accommodations.

If you have been diagnosed with a disability, arrange to provide appropriate medical documentation to include verification of your disability as well as limitations experienced and recommended accommodations for the University classroom. Typically, this documentation should be no more than three (3) years old; however, you may find more information about required documentation and options on our website at <http://aes.iupui.edu/apply.html> .

If you received accommodations in high school, maintain a copy of your high school accommodation records as this may be helpful in determining reasonable accommodations at the University. In high school, a parent or guardian would be equally involved with the student to set up disability assistance. However, in college, the student is responsible for setting up accommodations. If your parent or guardian will assist you in setting up accommodations, you must give them formal permission. If you would like the University to discuss your academic information with your parent, guardian or another third party, then please submit a FERPA Release Form.

Enrolling at Indiana University Purdue University – Indianapolis (IUPUI)

To enroll at IUPUI, begin by speaking with an admissions advisor to complete the enrollment process and schedule classes. As accommodations may take several weeks to implement, you should contact AES to arrange for accommodations in order to ensure they will be effective in time to begin classes. You can apply for accommodations at any time during your schooling. For more information on types of accommodations the University can provide to qualified students, please see services tab at <http://aes.iupui.edu/services.html> .

Attending Classes at IUPUI

Transitioning from high school to college requires planning, organization and commitment. Here are some pointers to assist you on your journey for your degree!

1. Read all the paper work.

- Print and retain all pertinent information in your personal files.
- Print your syllabus with your faculty member's contact information for each class.

2. Follow the attendance policy.

3. Stay organized.

- Keep track of when you post and in which class.
- Keep a file for each class that can include the syllabus, calendar, print outs, assignments and notes.

4. Plan ahead. When possible, complete your work early.

5. Save time to study.

- It takes time to read the material, understand it, and complete the assignments.
- Set aside specific days and times to work on schoolwork.

6. Know your rights.

In high school your student rights were covered by the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). At college, you are covered by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act.

- To read a website that talks about preparing for your future, visit:
